

Credit Suisse Real Returns™

Credit Suisse Real Returns™

Ready to re-launch your career? Our Real Returns™ Program offers talented professionals who have taken an extended career break a smooth transition back into the workforce.

Our Real Returns™ Program is paid and runs for approximately 12 weeks. You'll have the opportunity to work on projects that match your skills and expertise, and tap into a support network of like-minded professionals.

As a part of our Real Returns™ Program, you will:

- Be part of a team and work on an interesting assignment or project.
- Participate in a series of training/orientation modules to help acclimate you to the work environment.
- Upgrade your technology skills.
- Attend workshops to enhance your presentation and networking skills.
- Learn about business and regulatory changes in the financial services industry.
- Have a mentor who will provide advice during the program.
- Receive support throughout the program to ensure that you have a successful experience.
- Develop new relationships, and broaden your professional network.

We are pleased to announce applications for the Credit Suisse Real Returns™ Program are now open through October 13, 2019. Please see below for additional details and information on how to apply for both the New York, NY and Raleigh, NC programs.
